Description

Goldfinger House, Solihull is a 6,880sqft modernist Grade II listed property set within a self-contained site of 1.12 acres along with a private gated entrance off Cranmore Boulevard. Ernö Goldfinger - renown architect, designed and built Goldfinger House in 1963 on behalf of Carr and Co, creating two core floor plates of 6,558sqft, along with a rising watch tower extending another two-storeys above the structure; all serviced via an internal lift and arterial stairway.

Location

Goldfinger House is prominently located in Shirley, Solihull (postcode B90 4ZL), approximately 1.5 miles from Junction 4 of the M42, providing fast links to the national motorway network, including the M40, M6, and M5. The property sits within easy reach of Birmingham city centre (9 miles north) and Coventry (16 miles east), making it well-placed for regional business connectivity. Solihull itself has a population of around 216,000, with Shirley forming one of its key suburban centres. The borough has a strong economic profile, with approximately 61% of residents of working age (16-64) and a workforce that's highly skilled — over 40% educated to NVQ Level 4 or above, well above the national average.
